What this theme gives you

- ▶ A blue  $\rightarrow$  black gradient title bar, full-bleed across each slide.
- ▶ A top section-navigation strip that tracks where you are.
- ▶ A two-tone footer with author, short title, and slide number.
- ▶ Serif body type and a single coherent accent color.

One-line swap

The entire look is a single `\input` at the top of `slides.tex`. Keep your content; change the theme file to `restyle`.

Tip: `\acc{...}` highlights in the accent color, `\sub{...}` for muted secondary text.

A two-column layout

Put text on one side and a figure on the other:

- ▶ Balanced `two-column` content.
- ▶ Bullets, math  $f(x) = \langle w, x \rangle$ , and `accents`.
- ▶ Drop a real figure in place of the box.

Use `\figframe{path}{caption}` for a captioned image.

(`\placeholder` or `\includegraphics`)

Flow diagrams from shared styles

Styles `flowbox`, `flowboxw`, `flowaccent`, `flowarr` and `flowlbl` ship in `theme/_shared.tex`.

`\metricrow{}{}...` renders three big accent numbers with captions.

A results table

Benchmark — lower cost is better

| Method            | Score       | Cost   |
|-------------------|-------------|--------|
| Baseline          | 81.2        | high   |
| Prior work        | 88.0        | medium |
| This theme | 96.5 | low    |

`booktabs` tables look crisp; highlight a row with `\acc{}`.

Takeaways

1. A modern, minimal Beamer look with almost no configuration.
2. Everything reusable lives in `theme/` — restyle in one place.
3. Build with Tectonic: `./build.sh` → `slides.pdf`.

Fork it, change the title, and present.

Thank you.
